Event Introduction

In recent years, the supply chain has faced many challenges, the VUCA era, agility requirements, environmental requirements, digital waves, geopolitical risks, etc., need to change to adapt to the situation.

Many companies are in the exploration stage in the process of supply chain change, and there are many links in supply chain management projects, and the transformation effect is not good, and professional guidance is needed.

ASCM launched CTSC certification based on industry needs, specifically to assist enterprises and individuals to achieve supply chain transformation.

This seminar systematically introduces the system structure, learning methods and learning focus of CTSC knowledge, as well as the learning arrangement of the first module.
